BACKING OF KHANH against any analogies between

Regime Called 'Best Means' of Building Vietnam Unity

> By TAD SZULC Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24and religious groups.

ment violence that has spread prosecuted."
throughout the country in the There was no immediate eval-

Although Mr. McCloskey in-peared.
sisted that the riots were an Mr. McCloskey said the situation was "not clear at this time" and therefore he could not say whether the riots might the demonstrators' motivations, agitators. other officials privately expressed concern.

structure of the Saigon regime Agency's Board of National Estimates, Mr. McCloskey said:
"Such a paper is not nor guerrillas are pressing their attacks with growing vigor and ment on policy on any of the when pressuses for a negotiated subject which it discusses." settlement of the war are rising

Secretary of State Dean Rusk become aware that The Chi-and Secretary of Defense Rob-ert S. McNamara. It was not copy of the document.

Mr. Matthias's conclusions, immediately known whether the which were described as repre-European vacation.

cial comments was emphasis Victnam. that the United States would take an extremely serious and hegative view of any move to oust the regime of President Nguyen Khanh.

The officials cautioned the present charges of "dicta-AFFIRMED BY U.S. torship" being directed at President Khanh and the situation that prevailed a year ago when opposition was rising against the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

To make the United States' position clear, Mr. McCloskey read the following statement:

"The United States Government fully recognizes the need The United States reaffirmed for national unity in South today its support for the South Vietnam and is, therefore, sup-Vietnamese regime in the face porting the Khanh Government of opposition to it by student as the best means of building such unity at the same time Commenting on anti-Govern- that the war effort is being last two days, a State Depart-uation here of the origins and ment spokesman, Robert J. Mc-precise motivations behind the Closkey, said, "Obviously, any-riots. The inclination among thing of a divisive nature is officials was to ascribe them in the interest of neither the more to political than to relivietnamese Government nor its glious problems, even though tensions between Buddhists and Roman Catholics have reap-

it was "too carly" to discuss have been inspired by Vietcong

C.I.A. Study Discounted

Discussing a study suggest-The anti-Government unrest ing a negotiated settlement in was viewed as another danger- Vietnam, prepared by a memous element in weakening the ber of the Central Intelligence

The 45-page study was writin many quarters.

President Johnson met at 6 P.M. at the White House with Vietnam situation had been a senting his own views and not topic of discussion. Mr. McNam-those of the C.I.A. as a whole ara has just returned from a and not of the Johnson administration, emphasized pessimism as to the chances of winning The main theme of the offithe anti-Communist war in

Nguyen Khanh. had been no attempt within the board to seek agreement on all the points.